CEO Report

ASPECT Goes to Ottawa

Tomorrow afternoon I will be hopping on a plane to Ottawa on behalf of ASPECT members and I thought you might be interested in why I'm going. True, it is one of the more expensive endeavours for our association, but I think you'll agree that it's a good investment of time and money:

Sunday

As a board member of the Canadian Coalition of Community-Based Employability Trainers \(CCCBET\), I will be meeting with my colleagues to develop some of the initiatives we are working on. With last year's federal budget focusing on innovation and skills development, we will create advocacy information that Coalition members can use in their provinces and federally to identify community-based trainers as an integral force in meeting the skills development needs of the country.

Monday

I'll be attending the Cannexus Conference and networking with as many of the 1000 participants and vendors in the room as I can to build relationships, deepen my understanding of the sector, and workshop ideas of how we can better represent the needs of the sector. I look forward to meeting new people but also reconnecting with ASPECT members who will be attending including ASPECT President, John Dawson, and ASPECT Member, Pamela Webb from Horton Ventures in 100 Mile House. If you're there, please look for me so that we can have a visit.

Tuesday

With my CCCBET colleagues, I will be presenting a BC perspective at a discussion about accelerating workforce development with Work-Integrated Learning. Thanks very much to ASPECT members who responded to my request for information in the last Aspectives news blast.

Wednesday

In the morning I have confirmed a meeting with Rachel Wernick, Associate Assistant Deputy Minister, Skills and Employment Branch Employment and Social Development Canada, where we will talk about the government's initiative to build a Future Skills Lab and how the community-based employment centres can be an integral and cost-effective solution to providing services and on-the-ground partnerships. In the afternoon, I will be attending the CCCD | Canadian Council of Career Development Associations annual general meeting. There are lots of opportunities for CCCD and CCCBET can work together, and I hope to investigate ways to formalize this relationship.

As always, I am interested in your thoughts, comments, or suggestions of how I can better represent your needs. Please feel free to contact me at any time.

Do strength training exercises.

Strength training builds strong muscles and boosts your metabolism. It also improves balance and posture and helps to prevent bone loss. It's an ideal way for men and women to stay toned and fit.

Experts agree that two evenly distributed sessions a week of strength training are enough to build and strengthen muscles. It's easy to begin a program at home. All you need are dumbbells (hand weights), ankle weights, an exercise mat, and a book or a video about strength training to help you get started. Be careful not to strain your muscles, and check first with your health care provider before beginning a strength training program.

True or false: Strength training can make your thighs young again. The answer is true, according to Strong Women Stay Young by Miriam E. Nelson.

ASPECTIVES is the newsletter of the Association of Service Providers for Employability and Career Training (ASPECT). It is distributed weekly to more than 2,600 contacts within the employment and community-based training sector. Attributed articles represent the opinions of the authors and not necessarily the opinions of ASPECT.
